Democrats Vote Solidly Against Levy

HARRISBURG, Jan. 18 (AP) — Senate Republicans lost a fight tonight to pass a 3 percent sales tax.

Democrats, who indicate they may have supported the levy if the GOP agreed to reduce the extent of exemptions, turned in solidarity against the Republican proposal.

Illness Costs 3 Votes

The vote was 23-18 and followed party lines. Republicans, hampered by the illness of three of many votes of the necessary 26 to pass a bill.

Sen. Mahany, Republican floor leader, expressed regret at Democratic opposition to the bill. "I'm sorry the Democrats voted against the tax," he told a newsman. "It was their chance to get 300 million dollars to meet the desperate needs of schools and hospitals."

But Sen. Dent, Democratic floor chief, described the measure as "a monstrosity."

"How could we have voted for that bill when it exempts every high-powered lobby in the place—all except the little people of course," he declared.

Shifts Back To House

The defeat of the measure changed the scene of the tax fight back to the House where a 3 percent GOP-sponsored sales tax is up for action next Monday.

Rep. Smith, House GOP floor leader, said however there would be no GOP House votes for a 3 percent sales tax.

Both the House and Senate adjourned until next Monday.

Senate Republicans pushed for a final roll call on the 3 percent sales tax with notice it would be defeated unless they agreed to Democratic changes.

The measure designed to raise 305 million dollars between next Feb. 1 and May 31, 1957, was rewritten from Gov. Leader's defeated 3 percent manufacturers' excise tax.

The list of exemptions ranged from take-home food and clothing to soft drinks, newspapers, public utilities, farm materials, packing materials, industrial machinery, all goods purchased by railroads, medicine, coal and fuel oil and materials consumed in manufacture.

Democratic Amendments

Democrats offered a long string of amendments which would have knocked out most of the exemptions including those on clothing. "We're trying to make the bill into something we can vote for," said Sen. Barr, Democratic state chairman. "That's the reason for all these amendments."

Failing because of united GOP opposition to incorporate the amendments into the sales tax measure, Democrats then sought to transform it into an excise levy at the wholesale level.

Republicans voted to a man for defeat of this plan.

Attorney Accused Of Failing To Pay Tax For 10 Years

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18 (AP) — Clarence J. Corcoran, an attorney and a native of Wilkes-Barre, was accused today of failing to file income tax returns for 10 years on earnings totaling about $144,000.

U. S. Atty. W. Wilson White filed charges specifically accusing Corcoran with failing to file in 1952 and 1953. White asked bail be set at $500 pending a hearing.

Corcoran filed tax returns last Aug. 25 for 1945 to 1954 inclusive. White said, after it was revealed that the late Lemuel Schofield, well known criminal lawyer, had failed to file returns for the preceding eight years, Corcoran appeared voluntarily.

Corcoran didn't pay the taxes due, White said, although the returns showed taxes outstanding for each year.

Flory Recognized For Outstanding Flood Service

Jesse R. S. Flory, burgess of East Stroudsburg, was honored last night at a B'nai B'rith meeting in Temple Israel.

The audience in the vestry room gave Flory a standing, two-minute ovation as he accepted an award from Dr. Seymour Pollan, chapter president.

Washington's Letter

The award was an authentic reproduction of a letter sent by George Washington to the Hebrew colony at Newport. A part of that letter read: "...The reflection on the days of difficulty and danger which are past is rendered the more sweet from a consciousness that they are succeeded by days of uncommon prosperity and security. If we have wisdom to make the best use of the advantages with which we are now favored, we cannot fail, under the just administration of a good government, to become a great and a happy people."

In presenting the framed reproduction to Flory, Dr. Pollan noted that "It makes me very happy tonight, as the president of a small Hebrew group, to offer our sincere appreciation and gratitude to the burgess of East Stroudsburg for his selfless and untiring efforts on behalf of all the people in our community during our own time of trial and disaster."

The Washington letter was appropriate in more than one way. Aside from the fact that it was being made by a Jewish group, the award symbolized the spirit and hope of a panel discussion on flood problems which had been arranged for the open, public meeting. Flory was one member of that panel. Others were Charles Bensinger, speaking for the Red Cross, and H. G. Sanborn Jr., speaking for local industry and financing organizations.

Rehabilitation Recounted

Flory was the first to speak. He noted that flood rehabilitation had been divided basically into three parts: the emergency, the clean-up and the long-range planning program.

Planning carried out by the borough so far he said, has included the establishment of groups to study sewage disposal and water supply problems in the light of flood after-effects. Borough officials worked out a temporary flood control project aided by the State Department of Forests and Waters, he said, and is now co-operating—as are Stroudsburg and other sections of Monroe County—with the Army engineers in studying a full control project.

Persons living in the "flats" region of the borough will gradually be encouraged to relocate in other sections of the town, he said. No effort will be made to force them to do this, he emphasized. But more attractive areas will be made available as time goes on—areas away from the possible recurrent damage of flood waters.

Attempts to solve the housing problem include the low-rent housing units now in the process under guidance of a specially-set-up authority. The borough now has lots available to contribute free to persons who are able to build good homes on them—no strings attached, he said.

"I am often asked the question: Can we recover and come back to where we were before the flood?" Flory said. "We feel we can. Not only that, but we feel also that we can go even further than ever before. Our only bounds will be the vision of the leaders and the people of the community."

Bensinger discussed the efforts of the Red Cross and pointed out that all applications for grants in the area were approved or disapproved by a special, local committee. He praised the work of Red Cross case workers sent into the area to study applications.

Sanborn told the group he expects business to be good during the coming year. He noted the important fact that "none of the businesses or plants in this area moved out after the flood—they're still working for the good of the community." He also praised local banks for their little-publicized work in granting emergency loans, forgetting indebtedness where families were hit hard and in serving the financial community in general.

Upwards Of 25 Feared Dead In Tanker Explosion

LAKE CHARLES, La., Jan. 18 (AP)—Two bodies and pieces of other bodies floated ashore today as the grim search continued for the seamen—perhaps as many as 25—who worked aboard the tanker Salem Maritime when it exploded.

The death toll could even grow higher than 25, for as the monstrous flames burst from the gasoline-filled tanker last night they were reported to have sucked in some workers on docks of the Cities Service Oil Co. refinery.

But no official could release an authoritative list of the missing.

Dr. Harry S. Slaticek, Calcasieu Parish coroner, guessed about 25 of the 41-man crew were missing.

Lesser Figures

Cities Service, which owned the tanker, estimated 20. A seaman, who had chatted with crew members before the blast, put the figure at 16, and claimed a large number of the crew spent the night in Port Arthur, Tex.

The split and settling tanker continued to burn dangerously, with choking black clouds billowing from flaming oil.

Cities Service would not allow reporters on the huge refinery, about 6 miles from here, as the search went on by the waters of the Lake Charles.

A company spokesman reported pieces of four bodies had been found.

Two charred bodies were carried to local funeral homes this morning. Both were unidentified, although an undertaker described one as that of a Cities Service worker.

Nine Hospitalized

Another refinery employee was in serious condition at St. Patrick's Hospital. Also hospitalized were eight seamen, one in serious condition. Unaccounted for was the skipper, Capt. John Rugman, 42, of Milton, Mass.

The 42-year-old Rugman, in the Cities Service fleet 13 years, first took over the Salem Maritime last Wednesday when it sailed from East Braintree in Boston Harbor.

For three seamen aboard the tanker, the blast, which rocked the area and blazed across the sky, became a terrifying four-hour ordeal and then a miraculous jump to safety.

Frank Toto, 25, Brooklyn, N.Y.; George Emley, and Fred Gentry, lay trapped in the engine room of the Salem Maritime until a gust of wind tossed flames to another side of the ship. The seamen rushed to a top deck and jumped aboard a tug boat.

They were hospitalized for minor injuries, but Toto, announcing "I made some promises down there" left his bed to attend down mass in a hospital chapel.

The explosion of the tanker set afire two docks. But 1500 fire fighters succeeded in stopping the flames from reaching the huge refinery located in the heart of southwest Louisiana's oil country.

Radiation Rise Recorded When Saucers Sighted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—A new book on flying saucers said today some atomic scientists have detected "abnormal radiations" at the times and in the areas of sighting of unidentified objects in the sky. But it says there is no proof the phenomena are connected.

The author, former Air Force Capt. Edward J. Ruppelt, was for two years chief of the Air Force project for investigation of flying saucer reports.

He said that the data which he gathered on the radiation reports was rejected by the Air Force as containing "not enough conclusive evidence."

Ruppelt, now a research engineer for Northrop Aircraft, Los Angeles, said he coined the term UFO for "flying saucers"—Unidentified Flying Objects.

Russia Termed U. S. Navy's Chief Rival

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Navy told Congress today it must push the building of big carriers and nuclear ships "to insure our survival" because Russia is now second only to the United States as a naval power.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, said the Soviets have more than 400 submarines and even 18 months from now the U. S. undersea fleet will contain only half as many.

Burke, the Navy's top uniformed official, urged the House Armed Services Committee to approve a $1.4-billion-dollar shipbuilding program for the year beginning July 1. It includes another supercarrier and a guided missile cruiser to be the world's first nuclear-powered surface ship.

Can't Afford Holiday

"We cannot afford a holiday," Burke said.

The admiral pictured the Soviet navy as well planned for its mission—"to prevent U. S. naval forces and shipping from entering the water surrounding Europe and Asia."

He said the Soviets have no need for a high seas fleet to fight in midocean, so they have concentrated on submarines, destroyers and cruisers.

Trenton Radio Man Addresses Kiwanis Club

FRED E. WALKER, general manager of radio station WTTM, Trenton, N. J., was the guest speaker at the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club meeting yesterday afternoon. He discussed "Radio—Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow and Always."

Presented by Walter H. Dreher, program chairman, the speaker declared that radio was not dead as some people said, but is very much alive.

New stations are being opened every year and many are returning an excellent profit, he said. Walker admitted that radio had slumped, but is still able to compete with television for the listener's attention.

He pointed out the great service radio stations had performed in the flood emergency last August, giving special mention to WVPO in this respect.

Four Members Honored

Four of the club members were honored for their birthdays this week—Eric Schuchard, Rev. Roger C. Stimson, H. T. Rinker and Darrel K. Gehris. "Happy Birthday" was sung under the direction of Dr. Earl Willhoite with Numa J. Snyder at the piano. They also conducted the song period.

President William P. Wells welcomed David Hatlock and George Samsel, of Stroudsburg, and Perry Bean, of State Teachers College, East Stroudsburg.

Wells and First Vice President Elwood Hintze plan to leave for Harrisburg Friday where they will attend the annual President's Council which takes place on Saturday.

Saturday marks the 41st anniversary of the organization of Kiwanis International which will be noted at next week's meeting.

State Names Mental Health Study Group

HARRISBURG, Jan. 18 (P)—Harry Shapiro, state welfare secretary, today appointed a 25-member survey committee to study the needs and resources of Pennsylvania's mental health program.

The group, known as the Pennsylvania Mental Health Survey Committee, is composed of professional and non-professional members from throughout the state.

The Rev. Herbert W. Stroup, Camp Hill, and Dr. Daniel Blain, medical director of the American Psychiatric Assn., were named co-chairmen.

"The committee will perform an indispensable service in furthering our program for better mental health among our citizens," Shapiro said.

He predicted that "if you let the people know about major issues they will act positively."

He said the findings of the committee will provide this three-fold service:

1. Provide solid ingredients for a progressive policy document.
2. Serve as an effective tool for public education about state requirements.
3. Provide a badly-lacking source book of unbiased information on the resources as well as the needs of the mental health field in Pennsylvania.

The committee is expected to report its findings to the welfare secretary about June.

Appointed to the executive committee were:

Dr. James M. Henninger, Pittsburgh; Alvin Guyler, Pittsburgh; Dr. J. Franklin Robinson, Wilkes-Barre; Frank C. Fosse, Harrisburg; and Max Silverstein, Philadelphia.

Committee members include: Charles H. Frazier, president, Philadelphia; Mrs. Mortimer B. Fuller Jr., Dalton; Dr. Clifford Scott, Devereaux; Dr. Samuel Regester, Emporium; and Dr. John Baldy, Scranton.

Missionaries Defended Selves

PANAMA, Panama, Jan. 18 (P)—A bullet hole in the windshield of their plane indicated the five U. S. missionaries who died at the hands of savage Awa Indians in an Ecuadorian jungle last week attempted to defend themselves.

Capt. Robert B. McGhee, Waco, Tex., and Lt. James E. Claunch, Tacoma, Wash., U. S. Army helicopter pilots stationed in the Canal Zone who participated in the search for the missionaries reported the bullet hole today. They said the evangelists were armed with pistols. Indians of the area are armed only with spears.

Canada Studying Red Recognition

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 18 (P)—Canada is considering diplomatic recognition of Communist China. Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson told the House of Commons today that the government "is giving and will continue to give careful consideration" to recognition.

In August, Pearson said in a speech that Canada must soon take a new and searching look at the problem and emphasized recognition must be primarily in Canada's interests, not in the interests of the Chinese Reds.

Chiang's Refusal To Heed Marshall's Advice Blamed By Truman For China's Loss

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (P)—Former President Truman blames the loss of China to the Communists mainly on an "old-fashioned war lord" attitude on the part of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and on a refusal by Chiang to heed the advice of Gen. George C. Marshall.

In a new installment of his memoirs, published in Life magazine, Truman says the Communists refused to listen to reason, but he declares:

"There is no doubt in my mind that if Chiang had been only a little more conciliatory, an understanding could have been reached. Chiang Kai-shek would not heed the advice of one of the greatest strategists in history and (as a result) lost to the Communists."

Defends Marshall Mission

Truman defends, as based on the best information then available, his sending Marshall to China in 1945-46 in an effort to halt the fighting and get both sides to carry out a previous agreement to form a national government in which both Chiang's supporters and the Communists would be represented.

Marshall's mission, and its failure, have been sharply criticized by many Republicans. Life itself, in an editorial in the issue containing Truman's account of the mission, says "what Chiang needed was full moral and physical support such as we now give him in his Formosan stronghold."

Truman also administers some knuck-rapping to Patrick J. Hurley, who preceded Marshall as special emissary to China, and Bernard M. Baruch—the latter in connection with this country's first proposals for international control of atomic energy.

He says Hurley "attacked the administration, the State Department and me personally," in a talk with newsmen less than two hours after discussing the Chinese crisis with Truman at the White House and agreeing to go back to China on another peace-making try in the near future.

Clashes With Baruch

As for Baruch, Truman says that when he called in the "Elder Statesman" to help on the atom control plan Baruch—apparently "concerned whether he would receive public recognition"—sought to define his own role in the drafting of the plan.

In New York, a statement issued by a Baruch said from the excerpts "it appears that Mr. Truman was a better President than he is a historian."

JOHN REGAN, head of the Stroudsburg Lions Club's attendance committee, formally opened the 1956 attendance contest at the club meeting in the Penn-Stroud Thursday night. Team four, headed by co-captains M. Boogar and W. Thomas came up as winner for the first round with 14 men present.

Teams one and three were tied with 12 each and team two was in the cellar with 11.

James Cummings of the annual charter night committee announced that the speaker will be International Past President Monte Nute and that Tommy Cullen's orchestra will furnish music. This will be the 31st charter night party of the club and the date is Tuesday, Feb. 14.

Other charter night plans in this area include institution of new club at Bangor, Jan. 19; first charter night party at Tannersville, Jan. 24.

Plan Visitation

A group of Stroudsburg members will visit the Barrett club at that group's next regular meeting Wednesday, Jan. 25. Any members interested are requested to contact Emerson Rahn or William Deering.

Volunteer Firemen's Benefit Dance Deserves Soundest Community Support

Stroudsburg's Fire Department has completed plans for its annual public dance—a benefit affair with proceeds devoted to the volunteers to their respective company affairs. Soon tickets will be mailed to citizens of Stroudsburg with an appeal they be purchased. Out of ticket sales firemen will have ex-

Coolbaugh Township's Teachers, Bus Drivers Have Raised Red Flag On State Tax Politics

The tax controversy in Harrisburg has finally hit home—hit hard on Coolbaugh Township School District where lack of state appropriations caught the district with its "last" payroll on January 11.

Only the admirable loyalty of teachers and school bus drivers prevents closing the school system until such time as bickering over the state's tax program ends in Harrisburg.

These people have voluntarily agreed to "go on working—even without pay" so the young people of the district can continue their education.

No greater indictment could be handed down against legislators, Gov. George M. Leader and his administration than the Coolbaugh Township situation.

And whether they intend it to be just that or not, a group of bus drivers and school teachers in Collaugh Township have put to scorn the Leader administration and the legislators involved in the tax hassle.

The tax controversy in Harrisburg has simmered down to this point: The money needed by the state probably will be paid by individuals, either on their earnings or their spending.

Governor Leader wants to tax earnings with another deduction from the paycheck. Although he has receded half-way from his uncompromising stand against a sales tax, he continues to maintain—against all evidence—that it hits the "little fellow" hardest.

Republican Senate leaders, determined to bat down any attempt to add to the already long list of deductions from the paycheck, have transformed Leader's defeated manufacturers' excise tax into a 3 per cent sales tax to be known as a consumers' excise tax.

Just a word or two about this consumers' tax: It is an honest and practical attempt to solve the state's revenue troubles. It is levied at the place where it would cause the least economic damage to the taxpayers. It would produce the revenues needed by the State.

Refuting Leader's blind charge that the sales tax would hit the poor, the consumers' tax would contain liberal exemptions to reduce the impact on the lower-bracket citizens. Among other things, it would exempt take-home food, fuel, public utilities, articles already taxed by the state, drugs, corrective devices and machinery used in manufacturing, including farm machinery.

Not too long ago Gov. Leader himself proposed a sales tax in the form of a monstrosity called a manufacturer's excise tax which would hit precisely where it would do the most damage to the individual and the State's industries.

Levied on the value of manufactured products at a 3½ per cent rate, it would have doubled or tripled by the time the product reached the consumer.

Tuesday's action in the House and Senate found Democratic and Republican legislators falling over each other to set up some form of a sales tax. Big disagreement seemed to be on the rate—whether it be 2 or 3 per cent—and the Democrats want the Republicans to take the blame for the tax.

Coolbaugh Township school teachers and bus drivers have raised the red flag on that type of stupid politics. The crisis has hit home. It's time to get to the heart of this issue which is simply the interests of Pennsylvania and its citizens. The consumers' tax is an honest, practical levy which should be promptly enacted and signed by Gov. Leader.

George Sokolsky Says...

Lausche Would Only Be Menace To GOP If Eisenhower Does Not Run In 1956

President Eisenhower's difficulty in deciding what his duty is and to whom it is, is not surprising. Had he been a party man like Truman, he would have known that his duty was to his party. He would then have rationalized his situation to be that what is good for the United States and is therefore his duty.

But life has not been that simple for Eisenhower. First he tried to be bi-partisan which did not work because that does not go in the United States. Then he became a cardiac case which led to uncertainty as to whether he could run or not and that doubt has apparently not been resolved, as it never can with cardinals who have to take their chances that whatever happens is for the best. There is nothing else they can do.

It was during the cardiac period in Denver that the Regency was formed, consisting of Eisenhower's official and unofficial associates who undertook the management of the government, although constitutionally that function should have gone to the Vice President, Richard Nixon. The Regency did manage to keep the show on the road and actually performed splendidly for Eisenhower—so that when he came back from Denver, he had no complaints to make. His position had not been weakened by his illness. He was stronger than ever among the Republicans.

But the Democrats had taken account of the situation and had turned down the entire bi-partisan concept. Stevenson, Harriman, Truman are pitching into the Eisenhower Administration with all that they have. Other Democrats are following suit. It had been Eisenhower policy to get along with the Democrats as well as with the Republicans. That is all over now. He has to face a solid Democratic opposition, supported by the A. D. A. for whatever that is worth.

In New York State, the Democrats give the appearance of feuding, but that is only because the A. D. A., a Socialist group, is fighting the regular Democratic organization and is losing. The other day Carmine Desapio called the turn. The chairman of every County Committee agreed to support Harriman. These are delegates; they have votes at the Convention. Few, if any in the A. D. A. list favoring Stevenson, will be delegates to the Convention nor can they influence many candidates; therefore they do not count. It is easy in New York to get up a list of names for Stevenson, but not names of delegates.

The significance of the Stevenson effort is that in the early days of the Eisenhower Administration it was the White House hope that the Democrats would let 1956 pass. Whoever thought that possible was without understanding of American politics and life. As a result, many unbelievable errors were made to placate the Democrats. Now, it is not only clear that the Democrats are going to fight Eisenhower but so far the leadership in that fight has been taken by Adlai Stevenson who represents a slightly modified A. D. A. position. Eisenhower faces a frontal attack.

Also the Democrats are going to use every Congressional Committee available to show corruption in the Eisenhower Administration and I presume that some will be found that can be played up big, because among the millions of government employees there are always some who are corrupt. At any rate, it is going to be a fight.

Into this fetid air comes the personality of Governor Frank Lausche of Ohio who on a "Meet the Press" interview shocked the Washington correspondents by his blatant truthfulness. It had never happened before that any person in public life quite answered all questions as though the questioner had an obligation to answer. Lausche who is a Democrat, once he is nominated for the Presidency, can probably be elected because Taft Republicans will vote for him. But Lausche likes Eisenhower and would only become a menace to the Republican Party if Eisenhower did not run.

No, don't blame everything on the Home. Might not the teacher's desire for a good time after school and her greater desire for the paycheck than for the love of children caused Johnny's emotional problems? Maybe we better start using a little of this psychology on the teacher and stop worrying the parent who is working hard to provide for the child. Why keep the home in constant turmoil when the trouble might be in the school?

Man Only Animal Hell-Bent On Making New Environment

Somewhere the other day I ran across some writer's assertion that one of the characteristics of the American people is a restless inner compulsion to recamp their environment.

Their immediate reaction to almost any situation, he said, is: "What can we DO about it?"

I have been kicking that thought around ever since and my opinion is that the man was talking through his hat.

Only a small minority of Americans is forever asking "what can we do" about this and that.

Most of us ask, as a rule: "Why doesn't somebody do something about it?"

This undoubtedly reflects considerable dissatisfaction with our environment. It also suggests a certain degree of belief that the environment ought to be changed.

But it doesn't indicate any unrestrained urge to exert the necessary individual effort to change the things that irk us.

No doubt this is pretty exasperating to the "what can we DO" crowd, for usually those who ask what we can do can't do much without quite a little help. Rounding up the required assistance is the hardest part—and failure to get enough of it rounded up is the most common cause of frustration and disappointment.

Yet why should it be?

Why should we feel that something must be done about everything that comes up?

Almost never does anyone seriously propose that something be done to rearrange the relationships of the stars wheeling dutifully in their orbits. That, of course, is for an obvious reason—nobody has any good reason to believe there is anything human beings could do about those relationships. Reshuffling stars is one proposition on which we all appreciate our limitations and are quite willing to accept them.

But where do we get the idea that we can improve the overall pattern of our environment by meddling with almost everything else? Probably not from the net results of past attempts in that direction. We spend most of our time scrambling to keep from being done in by the unforeseen consequences of past attempts to "do something about everything under the sun."

To be sure, small groups of us do seem to gain little advantages from such remodeling efforts now and then. But perhaps that's only because we pay for the gains on the installment plan and never live long enough to know what the full costs were.

Certainly the advantages seem less impressive as we expand the group whose interests we're considering and the period of time we're measuring.

Man is about the only creature that is hell-bent on fashioning a new environment instead of adjusting to the one it has. This is widely regarded as a mark of man's superiority.

But it could be just a symptom of nervousness stemming from the fact that there hasn't been time enough yet to shake all the bugs out of the species.

Allan Green, who writes mystery stories and advertising copy with equal facility, tells about three salesmen who had dined sumptuously at a Chinese chop-suey emporium, and were now studying the "tell-your-fortune" slips of paper that are wrapped in a certain kind of crisp little Chinese cookie. The paper in the first man's cookie read: "You are about to embark upon a business venture that will net you millions." The second man's read: "You will soon meet a tempestuous red-head whom you will take on a long journey." Then the third man opened his little slip. This one read: "Help! I'm trapped in a Chinese bakery!"

Robert S. Allen Reports

Eden To Discuss Four Grim Cases With U. S.

Washington, January 19: Prime Minister Anthony Eden is coming to consult with President Eisenhower on four grim crises, as follows:

Intensified Russian efforts to provoke war in the inflamed Middle East. The British are convinced that as a result of this deliberate Soviet activity war may explode at any time between the Arabs and Israel. That's the real reason why considerable reinforcements are being rushed by air to key British bases in this strife-menaced area.

The Baghdad Pact is on the verge of collapse, and Eden contends that only by the U. S. immediately joining this alliance can it be saved. This view is also held by Admiral Radford. Following his recent trip through the Middle East, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff sent an urgent message to the President, warning that the Baghdad Pact is in grave danger and advising prompt U. S. membership.

Russia has perfected a 1200-mile guided missile that directly menaces every capital and industrial center in Europe. This terrifying weapon radically changes the European military situation, and necessitates immediate revision of NATO defenses and forces. Eden wants all the Western allies to be equipped with "tactical" atomic arms.

Britain's dollar shortage is becoming so acute that only prompt emergency measures can avert a financial disaster, which would mean also the downfall of Eden's government. He therefore wants one of two alternatives: (1) Additional economic aid, or (2) extensive relaxing of the trade embargo against Red China that was imposed during the Korean War.

This fearful background of Eden's impending visit was outlined to Senator Walter George (D., Ga.) at his secrecy-cloaked luncheon with Secretary Dulles.

They did not discuss the widely-publicized question of increasing the foreign aid budget; that was not brought up by either of them. The powerful chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee did express his disapproval of Dulles' controversial magazine article. In reply, the Secretary of State said he was "greatly disturbed by the effect it is having on my relations with a lot of people."

With this exception, Dulles' luncheon-conference was devoted to giving Senator George a report on what is behind Eden's trip to Washington.

"World conditions have greatly deteriorated in recent weeks," Dulles told George. "Terrible risks confront us, particularly in the Middle East. War could erupt there at any time. Admiral Radford thinks so, and so do the British. Russia is doing everything possible to embroil the Arabs and Israel in war."

Note: British dollar reserves have decreased by more than $180,000,000 since December 1, 1955.

More Dulles Talk—Dulles admitted his report was much gloomier than what he had previously told the full Foreign Relations Committee.

He did not explain the reason for his more somber view.

The hope was expressed to Senator George that a detailed account of the Committee's closed-door meeting would not be made public. That is being threatened by Senator Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.), in retaliation against Dulles' "partisanship" in the embattled magazine article.

It can be disclosed that the unpublished transcript of the Committee's session records Dulles as optimistic about peace continuing. He is quoted as follows:

"The threat of war has diminished since I appeared before this Committee last summer. On a global basis, conditions have considerably stabilized. The Soviet Union has been forced by the free world's position of strength to change its policy from threat of war to trying to win neutral nations with tempting offers of trade and aid."

Senator Alexander Wiley (R., Wis.), former Committee chairman, interrupted to ask, "Doesn't that present us with a very serious problem?"

Dulles doubted that, on the ground the Soviet lacks the resources to make good its promises.

"Russian economy is already greatly strained by over-expansion," Dulles explained. "I seriously doubt the Kremlin can increase its trade and aid above the present level."

Humphrey wanted to know, "How your statement squares with the fact that the Russians shipped a lot of grain to Norway. If they can do that, why can't they make good on their promises?"

"That could be the case," conceded Dulles, "but I don't think they can do it because of internal conditions in Russia. The Kremlin has to improve the standard of living of the Russian people or face new troubles at home."

Under questioning by Senator J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.), Dulles told the Committee: "We are greatly disturbed by Britain's loss of prestige in the Middle East and its very serious dollar reserve losses. . . . The recent French election is very disquieting, but we still believe they will set up a stable government. . . . Chancellor Adenauer will never negotiate with the Russians unless internal pressures make that move necessary. It is true

Assessors Told To Revalue Properties Damaged By Flood

County Orders Reappraisal; Tax Hike Seen

TOWNSHIP assessors yesterday were instructed to revalue flood-damaged properties, although the result will probably mean a boost in county levies this year.

The assessors met with the county commissioners to discuss what is to be done in reassessing taxable property which was either damaged or destroyed in the Aug. 18 disaster.

County Solicitor Leo A. Achterman noted that the reappraisals could "present a serious problem" to school districts, township supervisors and the county.

However, Achterman observed that an act of 1952 provides that the chief assessor and the assessment board can alter assessments when the economy of a county, or a portion of it, is changed.

Visit Flooded Properties
Yesterday, the township assessors were asked to visit every flood-damaged property in their areas and then make their recommendations to the chief assessor. The information will then be passed on to the county commissioners.

Earlier this week, Commission Chairman John R. Lesoine indicated that extensive flood damages can mean a boost in the tax rate over last year's county assessments of 11 mills.

Achterman suggested the assessors keep in mind the present and original values in making their recommendations on flood-damaged properties.

"If the value of the property wasn't affected, there's no need to make recommendations for a change in an assessment," said the solicitor. "We don't want you to feel this is charity on the part of the commissioners. The board simply wants to see that people have a fair and just deal."

Restrict Readjustments
The solicitor noted that there should be no assessment change if a cellar was merely filled with water and no apparent damage was caused. He also said no change should be made if a damaged property has been restored to its original market value.

On the other hand, Commissioner Willard Quick pointed out that assessors should consider all physical improvements which existed before the flood, such as lawns, shrubs and gardens, in addition to the house.

Quick recognized the assessors have a hard job ahead of them, but urged them to take it seriously. He said adjustments can't be made properly unless the assessor makes personal visits to all damaged properties.

Mr. Lesoine noted that some assessors will probably discover that many properties already are under-assessed.

Any adjustments would continue until the properties are restored to their original market value. Assessors reported no damage in the following townships: Eldred, Chestnut Hill, Ross, Tunkhannock, Coalbough, Jackson, the Borough of Delaware Water Gap and the Third Ward of Stroudsburg.

Achterman Says Records Verify Demo Charges

ABOUT 150 Democratic party workers were told last night that charges made against the former Republican county administration have now been verified by the records.

County Solicitor Leo A. Achterman made the statement at a victory dinner in the Chestnut Hill Township Fire House in Brodheadsville.

At the same time, the solicitor noted that county bills and commitments exceed available cash and it will be necessary to borrow money before the end of the year.

Other Speakers
Other speakers included Rep. Van D. Yetter Jr. and State Committee Chairman Forrest Smith. County Chairman Jacob Altomose presided and introduced recently-elected Democratic county and municipal officers.

The invocation was pronounced by District Attorney Detlef A. Hansen. Other party workers will attend a similar dinner at the fire house tonight.

Stroud Township Firemen Called By 'Dust' Fire

Stroud Township firemen had to "put out" a "dust" fire early yesterday morning.

Firemen answered an alarm at about 8 a. m. They went to the Richard Jennings home at Stroudsburg RD 3 (Felleneer Flats).

At the Jennings house firemen found dust had collected around a pipeless furnace. It was smoking. No real fire.

The home is owned by Paul Felleneer. Firemen cleared away dust from the furnace; suggested it be thoroughly cleaned before more serious trouble occurred.

Church Alerted For Break In China Curtain

BUCK HILL FALLS — American Christians yesterday were put on the alert to prepare for "a restoration of fellowship" with their brethren in Red China.

The alert was given by Rev. Tracey K. Jones Jr., a former Methodist missionary to China and now administrative secretary for Southeast Asia and China for the Methodist Division of World Missions.

Speaking at a session of the annual three-day meeting of the denomination, Board of Missions, Mr. Jones said the opportunity for renewed fellowship may come next year—or it may take several years.

Seek New Contacts
"As of 1955 there have been no contacts, although even this past year there have been some feeble indications of a growing interest on the part of Christians in China to re-establish contacts of a sort with Christians beyond their own border," he said.

Mr. Jones warned that if and when relationships are restored they will "certainly be nothing like they were before 1949."

"China whether under the Communists or another government must be dealt with on a completely new basis," he continued.

"Relentlessly the Peiping Government moves toward its goal of completely transforming Chinese life," he explained. "We can expect that the Chinese Methodist Church will strongly support what their government has done and is doing."

The veteran missions leader noted that the friendship between Peiping and Moscow is deep, while "the Chinese Communist animosity toward the United States will not easily be tempered."

Warns Of Changes
"American Christians will need to prepare themselves with a positive attitude toward the changes that have taken place within the church in China," he said.

"We may not recognize the Methodist Church that now exists," Mr. Jones concluded. "It will not be easy to see these changes as part of God's will, but such a positive outlook will be necessary."

House Increases Limit Of Loans For Flood Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The House today passed and sent to the Senate a bill to provide more emergency financial aid to flood and other disaster victims.

It shouted approval of a 100 million dollar increase in the disaster lending authority of the Small Business Administration, raising the limit of low-interest 3 per cent disaster loans from $25,000,000 to 125 million.

Assemblyman Yetter Charges 'Constructive Bills Being Bouted Up By GOP Senate'

REP. VAN D. YETTER charged last night that "nearly 400 constructive bills designed to help the people of Pennsylvania are being held captive by the Old Guard, 19th century Republican-controlled State Senate."

Republican senators have set up a "deliberate bottleneck" to stymie all legislation passed by the House, Yetter told Democratic workers at a "victory dinner" held in the West End Fire Hall, Brodheadsville.

At the same meeting Yetter announced officially that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for assemblyman from this county in the April primary. He pledged himself to a "second hard fight" for reelection in November if nominated again by his party.

Political Football
Yetter charged that Republicans in the Senate have turned State appropriations for educational needs, highways and hospitals into a "political football" by delaying every "sensible and honorable step taken so far to bring in revenue for these purposes." He said the GOP leadership is "behaving like a bunch of bad-mannered kids in a back alley marble game . . . who want to make sure they can bully their way through even if they can't win."

The local assemblyman praised the "cooperation given to us in Monroe County by the administration of Gov. George Leader." This cooperation, he said, had been directly responsible for the encouraging number of bills presented and passed by the House during the present legislative session.

"Before the session is over," he said, "we will have introduced and passed through the Democratic-controlled House legislation fulfilling all of the basic promises in the 1954 Democratic platform."

"These bills—or a majority of them—have been kidnapped and held for ransom by the Old Guard in the Senate," he said. Yetter is now in the second year of a two-year term in the House. He is a farm equipment dealer at Marshalls Creek.

Leading Shares Drop Sharply On Late Sales

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—Concentrated selling just before the final bell today sent the stock market down sharply.

Most major divisions were depressed by the slide, but there was considerable resistance to the fall in the steel and motor. Those two divisions together with Ford over the counter were the center of most trading interest.

Losses throughout the list went to around 3 points, and there were gains amounting to a point in key sections.

Ford was active in the over-the-counter market. On the bid side it hit a high of 70, an early low of 67 1/2, and late in the afternoon it was quoted at 67 1/2 bid and 68 1/2 asked. There is no set time for the over-the-counter market to close. Trading continues so long as there are customers.

Losses Widespread

There were greater losses in the rubbers, aircrafts, chemicals and elsewhere. Railroads, oils, and copers were also down. Utilities lost ground.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost $1.80 at $175.10. On Monday the average dropped $2.10 and yesterday it regained 70 cents. The industrial component today was off $2.60, rails were off $1.90 and the utilities lost 20 cents.

The list was composed of 1,181 individual issues of which 230 advanced and 714 declined with 18 new highs and 13 new lows for 1955-56.

Volume amounted to 2,110,000 shares with 570,000 shares credited to the final 30 minutes.

The American Stock Exchange was lower on volume of 720,000 shares as compared with 680,000 shares traded yesterday.

Corporate bonds were mixed while U. S. government issues traded over the counter were higher.

'Porgy And Bess' Players Married

MOSCOW, Jan. 18 (AP)—Sportin' Life and Serena were married yesterday in one of the biggest weddings Moscow has seen. There were about 2,500 spectators jammed inside and outside the Russian Baptist Church.

The principals were Earl Jackson and Helen Thigpen of the American "Porgy and Bess" company now performing the folk opera in Moscow. Most of the spectators were women, packed solidly in the pews, aisles, galleries and on the stairs inside the church and down the street for a block.

Tree Planting On Washed Lands Advocated By Pyle

MUCH OF THE valuable farmland in this area was washed away by the flood this past summer, District Forester E. C. Pyle recalled yesterday. Many of these areas have some soil remaining or soil that has been washed in from some other source. Although many of these lands will no longer support farm crops, they would still produce good growths of forest trees.

On most of these particular types of land, it is not advisable to attempt to grow hardwoods, Pyle said. Hardwoods may seed-in naturally with less trouble. Conifers (softwoods) in the majority originally along stream banks are preferred and are more commonly planted in these sandy soils. Especially in this true for larch, banks pine and red pine. Care should be taken, however, not to plant steep, eroded banks the first year that are nothing but gravel or have not had a chance to settle or stabilize.

There are also a number of reasons why it is advisable to grow more conifers than hardwoods, according to Pyle. At present, a majority of the trees in the Commonwealth are hardwoods, and an increase in the proportion of evergreens is advisable. Conifers also adjust themselves to poorer soils and more readily than timber tree hardwoods. Conifers furnish year-round cover for not only the land on which they are planted but also for all kinds of wildlife that may be in the area.

Father, Unaware Family Is Safe, Dies In Flames

BURBANK, Calif., Jan. 18 (AP)—An aircraft worker rescued two of his children, then perished in flames today trying to save his wife and a third child from their burning home — unaware that she and the boy already had escaped.

Robert Morales, 38, carried Billy, 3, Elisa, 10 months, to safety. Then neighbors said, he rushed back into the flames for his wife, Camilla, 28, and their son, Robert Jr., 4.

Hearse Regulations

VIENNA, Austria, Jan. 18 (AP)—It's official now, you can't use a Vienna taxi for a hearse. It is also forbidden to transport explosives in a taxi or to carry loaded firearms while you're riding in one. These are among regulations in a city ordinance published Sunday.

Nations May Unite Through Atomic Pool

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst

Europeans, like Jean Monnet, who are resuming their efforts for unification, are making a very practical approach through atomic energy.

European unity took a beating when France repudiated her own idea of a European Defense Community with political overtones. The European Union finally evolved was bereft of surrenders of sovereignty and other steps toward unity beyond the military alliance with West Germany.

That left the Coal and Steel Community as the only instrument of unity. Because of political troubles at home, Monnet resigned as head of the community, and there are signs that it is having its troubles without him.

New Lever

The unity planners originally conceived of additional economic pacts similar to coal and steel but more in the field of general business, as their next objective after coal and steel. But the emergence during the last year, under the Eisenhower plan, of cooperative development of atomic energy for peaceful uses, gave them an immediate new lever.

Europe, more than the United States, really needs atomic energy now.

Britain already has launched a long-term development program in an effort to overtake her power shortage and resume the industrial leadership she once enjoyed because of her coal, now depleted.

All Western Europe is in much the same position. Even West Germany and Britain are importing coal, and oil is becoming more and more important, and expensive, in European industry.

Major Step

Monnet's committee for creating a United States of Europe has seized this situation as a focal point at its current meeting.

If successful, they would consider it a major step toward unity. Indeed, it would be more fundamental in some ways than coal and steel, although the latter touches an old European problem—control of the basic materials for making war.

But the Coal and Steel Community merely embraced industries which were established, pooling productions which were known factors.

An atomic energy pool would mean cooperation among the nations from the start of a new industry.

They would be creating something which, for some of them, might be difficult if tackled alone.

'Big Sister' Leads Four Children From Burning Home

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 18 (AP)—Being the big sister in a large family entails awesome responsibilities at times.

And 10-year-old Carol Nugent is a little girl who knows just how to meet them.

When the Nugent house caught fire yesterday while the parents were gone, Carol acted calmly and promptly.

Oldest is Five

She took 13-month-old Judy under one arm, Donna, 2, under the other, and herded Joe, 5, and Tenney, 3, in front of her.

The kids were all barefoot and the babies must have been pretty heavy. But Carol prodded her four little procession for a quarter of a mile through the snow as fast as she could to the home of neighbors.

Home Saved

She acted so swiftly and sanely that Bobby Newman, 24, and James Jones, 18, were able to rush back to the Nugent home and extinguish the blaze before the house was destroyed. Only the bedroom where the fire started was burned out.

Three older Nugent children were in school. Carol had been kept home to look after the little ones while the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Nugent, made a business trip into Charleston.

The family lives at Martin's Branch, 12 miles north of here.

Effort

Mrs. Walter Murphy

Mrs. and Mrs. Wilbur Nauman, of White Haven, visited Mr. and Mrs. James Hannon Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Uhler, of Allentown, were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rader.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brong and grandson, Garry Smith, Mrs. William High and daughter, LaRue, Stanley Rader, Mrs. Susan Rader, Mrs. James Hannon and son, Stanley; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Murphy transacted business in Stroudsburg on Tuesday.

and the end result would come from a real community effort. It would be the sort of thing to give a great psychological as well as economic boost to the idea of union.

Bangor Council Protests Hike In Phone Rates

BANGOR — In an adjourned meeting this week Borough Council moved to send a letter of protest to the Public Utility Commission against proposed increase in telephone rates for Bangor by the Pennsylvania Community Telephone Co.

A letter was read by Secretary William Sleeman from Edmund P. Turiso, Bangor attorney, written in behalf of Food Basket, a food chain store soon to be opened in midtown. The letter censured the failure of council to take further action on a proposed metered parking lot to be erected in the center of Bangor's business block. The parking lot has been proposed by the Bangor Chamber of Commerce and many merchants and businessmen in the center of town. Council President Ralph Erdman appointed a committee to continue study on the proposed lot. Named to the committee were Horace Jennings, chairman; Walter Warrick, William Holland, Julio Gentel, Samuel Hicks and Clarence Beegle.

Erdman also appointed Beegle and John Cascioli as delegates to the Mid-Eastern Counties Association

Household Employer's Social Security Tax Due Where Workers Are Paid $50 In Quarter

DO YOU HAVE a maid, laundress, cook, cleaning woman, or baby sitter? If you have, you may be overlooking the necessity of paying social security taxes on your employee.

The 1954 amendments to the Social Security law provided social security coverage for all domestic workers who are paid as much as $50 or more cash wages in a calendar quarter. This, of course, applies to the fulltime maid, the butler and the chauffeur, and it also applies to the once-a-week cleaning woman, the baby-sitter, or the man who takes care of the furnace and shovels snow in the winter and takes care of your yard and lawn in the summer, if they are paid $50 or more during any calendar quarter starting Jan. 1, April 1, July 1, or Oct. 1 each year.

Many Must File

Many householders who never thought of themselves as employer will find they must file a report tion of Boroughs convention.

Committee chairmen appointed by Erdman follow: Streets, Warrick, chairman; finance, Arthur Messinger, chairman; law, Jennings, chairman; safety, Beegle, chairman; sidewalks and light, Gentel, chairman; and Buildings and Grounds, Holland, chairman.

and pay social security taxes for the help they have in their homes. This is a quarterly report in a simple envelope form that can be completed in a matter of minutes — it is known as Form 942 and should be filed before the close of the month following the quarter. It shows the worker's name, social security account number, the amount of wages paid and the social security tax. The employer withholds a 2% tax from the wages of his employee and matches this with an additional 2%, which is the tax on the employer. This tax money goes into the social security trust fund and is used to pay the retirement benefits to insured individuals or to their survivors.

Furnish Statement

The social security tax, as mentioned, is for the ultimate benefit of the employee and the payments made by the employer do not represent income tax withholdings; consequently, there is a responsibility on the part of the employer file an income tax return, reporting the wages received and paying any tax due.

The law requires each employer to furnish to each employee a written statement of wages and social security taxes for each calendar year on or before Jan. 31 of the next year. If a household worker's employment ends before Dec. 31, the employer's statement should cover the part of the year through the last day of employment, and should be furnished within 30 days after the day on which the last payment of wages is made to the employee. The government provides Form SS-14 for this purpose, but a written statement showing the information contained in the form is acceptable.

It should show (a) the employer's name and address, (b) the employee's name, address, and social security account number, (c) the total amount of wages paid in the year (or part year), and (d) the total amount of employer tax deducted, if any. The employer should attach a copy of the Form SS-14 or written statement, if form is not used, to his income tax return.

All forms which must be filed may be mailed to the office of the District Director of Internal Revenue or brought in personally.

Household employers desiring more detailed information can visit or write to their local Internal Revenue Service office, asking for Publication No. 14, Household Employer's Social Security Tax Guide.

An advance look at our new $8,000,000 Western Pennsylvania headquarters building, to be built at Gateway Center in downtown Pittsburgh. Construction will begin early this year, as part of our $108 million state-wide construction program.

The millions we'll spend for construction alone this year will provide work for thousands in the building trades

In 1956, we will launch the largest one-year construction program in our history... at a cost of $108,000,000.

Such continued expansion of the telephone business to meet telephone demands will buy a lot of building materials and supplies... will make us big customers of scores of Pennsylvania businesses and industries, large and small.

More important still, it will provide employment and extra income for thousands of bricklayers, carpenters, plumbers, electricians and other construction people in the hundreds of communities we serve all over the state. For we expect to complete 23 new buildings during the year, make 17 major additions to existing ones, and begin construction of the new $8,000,000 Western Pennsylvania headquarters building shown above.

Any way you look at it, the successful operation and steady expansion of the telephone business plays a big part in the prosperity of Pennsylvania as a whole... and of Pennsylvanians as individuals.

Gay 90's For This Effort Grandmother

Effort — A great grandmother who still would sit up all night to play poker and who is looking forward to going fishing this Spring will celebrate her 90th birthday on Monday.

She is Mrs. Anna Dougherty who this winter has come to make her home permanently with her daughter, Mrs. James Lytle, in Effort.

Mrs. Dougherty was born in Ireland, coming to the United States in 1884. She has spent the intervening years in Philadelphia until this December when she came to make her home here. She has eight children, all living with the exception of a son who lost his life in service. There are 21 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren.

She has worked hard all of her life and credits that fact with her continued activity and interest in living. As a poker player, she usually wins. She's not so sure about her ability as a fisherman but hopes to find out this Spring fishing in the stream which runs through their property.

Card Party To Occupy Three Homes

A three-pronged party will be held on Tuesday, January 31, open to all the women who like to play cards and sponsored by the Stroudsburg Woman's Clubs.

The parties, set for 1:30 in the afternoon, will be held simultaneously in three homes in the community, and that is one reason the committee is urging members to call the co-chairman to signify which home they choose to have their table reserved.

Mrs. Walter Werkheiser, 2554-J, and Mrs. James Morgan, 295-M, are general chairmen and the women to call for reservations.

Homes to be open for the card players will be those of Mrs. Ernest H. Wyckoff, Thomas Street; Mrs. Forrest Burrows, Scott Street; and Mrs. Howard Rockefeller, Club Court.

Mrs. Edward Knob and Mrs. Oscar Liljenstein are choosing the prizes for each table and separate committees of hostesses will serve at each house.

For the Wyckoff home Mrs. Clifford Heller, Mrs. Harry Albert and Mrs. Russell Balmert are hostesses; for the Burrows home, Mrs. Detlef Hansen, Mrs. James H. Arbogast and Mrs. William A. Karshner; for the Rockefeller home: Mrs. C. D. Hallock, Mrs. T. I. Metzgar, Mrs. J. A. Groner and Mrs. Fred H. Rhodes. The names listed first are those of the chairmen.

Proceeds from the party will be used for the community projects being sponsored this year by the club, the details of which will be announced later. Among them are recreational equipment for use at the Salvation Army; the entertainment of a foreign student in local homes for the summer; suitable furnishings for the extra room at the Community House; and the long range project of contributions for a home for the aged ill.

Famous Italian Dish Takes Work, but Lasagne Is Good

By Cecily Brownstone, Associated Press Food Editor

If you feel lasagne—famous Italian dish—is worth working for, you can prepare it at home. There's not a trick to it, but this combination of pasta, meat, cheese and tomato sauce needs time and attention.

We served this Lasagne with a salad of water cress and cucumber and had fruit and cookies for dessert. The meal made a pleasant Sunday night supper. My sister and I started making the Lasagne at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, each doing part of the preparation; it was ready at seven. But while the sauce was simmering we both watched a couple of television programs, so, all in all, it wasn't too bad!

If you can get the Italian ingredients called for in our Lasagne recipe, use them. If not, make the following substitutions:

For the broad flat lasagne noodles, use regular wide egg noodle. For Italian-style peeled tomatoes, use canned whole tomatoes and simmer long enough to bring the sauce to good consistency. For ricotta, use cream-style (small curd) cottage cheese. For Italian sweet sausage, use regular pork sausage. The tomato paste and sauce are, of course, available everywhere. Mozzarella cheese, once hard to come by, can now usually be found in grocery stores in vacuum-sealed plastic bags.

Lasagne

Ingredients: 1 egg, 2 slices white bread, 1 cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1/2 pound ground chuck beef, 2 tablespoons olive oil, 1/2 pound Italian sweet sausage, 1/4 cup finely diced onion, 1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste, 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce, 1 can (about 2 pounds) Italian-style peeled tomatoes, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar, basil, oregano, 8 ounces lasagne noodles, 3 quarts water, 1 tablespoon salt, 1/4 pound Mozzarella cheese (diced), 1 pound ricotta cheese.

Famous Italian Dish Takes Work, but Lasagne Is Good

By Cecily Brownstone, Associated Press Food Editor

If you feel lasagne—famous Italian dish—is worth working for, you can prepare it at home. There's not a trick to it, but this combination of pasta, meat, cheese and tomato sauce needs time and attention.

We served this Lasagne with a salad of water cress and cucumber and had fruit and cookies for dessert. The meal made a pleasant Sunday night supper. My sister and I started making the Lasagne at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, each doing part of the preparation; it was ready at seven. But while the sauce was simmering we both watched a couple of television programs, so, all in all, it wasn't too bad!

If you can get the Italian ingredients called for in our Lasagne recipe, use them. If not, make the following substitutions:

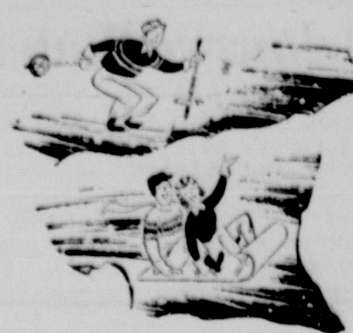

For the broad flat lasagne noodles, use regular wide egg noodle. For Italian-style peeled tomatoes, use canned whole tomatoes and simmer long enough to bring the sauce to good consistency. LOUNGING AROUND
Some of the best columns, daret not be printed. They are the columns that could be compiled from chatter, gossip and sprightly talk heard in our "Empire" Lounge. Just I can do is to pass on a few of yesterday's bantering conversations.

"Did you buy your marked down dress yet?" Fanny Strunk asked as I poured my mid-morning coffee and selected a bun.

"Not at 49.5 I didn't," I said. "If it were marked down to 49 cents I'd still say no this week."

"I wonder if the column will sell it?" Lorraine Flagler mused. "It's going to arouse curiosity if nothing else."

"What's all this?" Edna Brockman chirped. "A marked down dress? Tell me more."

"It wouldn't fit you," I said. "At least I don't believe it would—we don't have the same shape and it fits me as though I were poured into it."

"You'd better put that doughnut back on the plate then," someone suggested.

"I've had several inquiries about it already," I said, taking a big bite. "But all three women were either hipper than I or much too short. You know, Lorraine, if it sells I want a commission."

"What about 1/2 of one per cent?" she asked.

"I'll settle for a chocolate soda," I said. "After all, if a gal can't afford a dress that fits her, she can drown her sorrows in sodas until she's too darned big to have any regrets about it."

"Well," Doug Gordon ventured at this point, "if you're concentrating on old merchandise you might mention my six Boy Scout caps."

"How old are they?" I asked warily.

"Never mind how old," he snapped. "They are very good Boy Scout caps. Originally they were 1.50. Now they're 50c. There must be a buyer somewhere."

"Yes," Mabelle Shatzman consoled, "there must be some old Boy Scouts around somewhere."

"Doug," I said, "you're a Scrooge. Why not mark them down to a quarter?"

He looked pained. "I said they're a wonderful quality cap—they're worth far more than 150c—they're worth every cent of 1.50 as far as quality goes."

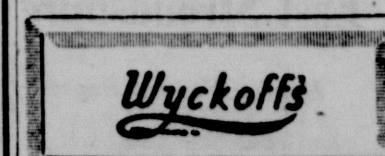

"Only," another voice put in, "the Boy Scouts thus far have been too young to appreciate them!"

"Age," Doug responded icily, "has nothing at all to do with it. The hitch is they have to have a 7 1/2 head."

"Doug are you worried about age again?" Betty Shively flipped as she appeared in the doorway. "I'd like to forget mine for a while."

"I wish my children would forget mine," I mourned. "Last night we were working another of Florence Predmore's jigsaw puzzles and we came to the sign 'Antiques.' Maura wanted to know what that meant, and Timmy told her. 'That,' he informed his sister, 'is something old. Like Mommie.'"

P. S.: I'm in the market today. Have you any old compliments hanging around you'd like to dispose of? I'll mark 'em down for clearance and, Brother, you're a buyer!

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Seems as if this animal story has gone into a serial. Yesterday, if you remember, the mysterious animal sighted in our orchard evaded pursuit and the camera and left us nothing but paw-prints. Is some malevolent being stalking through the Westbrook wilderness? Will it appear again? If so, when?

The answers in today's installment is as it did appear, and at the most inconvenient time—for accurate observation, that is, I was trailing sleepily out to the garage at 7:47 a.m. to the car my son was warming up, when whoosh something flashed out from beneath the car, nearly knocking me over and vanished into the underbrush.

While I hesitate to go on a witness stand to say what I saw, I can testify that it was black and big and gave the definite impression of being a cat. And that it was much more scared than I was, though probably not as confused.

Not the biggest cat that ever lived could scare me as badly as certain other four-footed animals. It was years ago in a late Spring flood that I waded out, bare footed to back out the car that was up to its running board in water.

As I opened the door, all the big rats who lived into the Brodheads and had climbed into the roadster for safety from the rising waters came piling out on top of each other and started swimming madly around my bare legs.

Give me cats, anytime, up to and including black panthers.

Two Pieces Double Life Of New Styles

By Dorothy Roe

Associated Press Women's Editor

Smart girls on a budget know that if an outfit comes in two pieces it can lead a double life.

That's why separate blouses and skirts are enjoying a bloom such as has not been seen before in all the vast reaches of the U. S. fashion industry.

You match 'em or mix 'em or take 'em apart, so that if you have a well-planned wardrobe of these versatile items you can dream up new combinations ad infinitum.

One of the most enthusiastic sponsors of the theory of separates is Nelly de Grab, a Viennese designer of no uncertain talents, who believes that all costumes should be divided into two parts, if not three or four.

This spring she likes textured tweeds and bold blanket plaids for skirts, sleek monotone jerseys for blouses, cuts her skirts wide or narrow as the spirit moves her.

Career girls and campus belles alike have discovered the satisfactory results of mixing and matching their skirts, shirts, jackets and shorts, and have passed along the news to their elders, so that today American women of all ages are playing the game of separates.

It works, they have discovered, not only with sports and casual clothes, but also with cocktail and evening outfits, in which changing the top can make a new gown out of a basic velvet or satin skirt.

Georgia House Censures Brownell

ATLANTA, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Georgia House yesterday voted to severely censure and reprimand U. S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell and the Federal Bureau of Investigation for a recent investigation of the Cobb County Superior Court.

The investigation, growing out of the conviction of Amos Reese on a charge of rape, recently was bitterly criticized in Congress by members of the Georgia delegation.

Reese, a Negro convict, was charged with raping a white woman while serving a prison term on a rape charge. He has twice been convicted in Cobb Superior Court and the U. S. Supreme Court recently ordered a new trial for him.

Jaycees Vote Flood Relief For Yuba City, Cal., Chapter

POCONO JAYCEES voted to send a check for $10 to the Yuba City, Cal., Jaycees organization Tuesday night.

The check is to be used toward flood relief for residents of that water-ravaged town. It was a "return gesture of appreciation and civic responsibility," local Jaycees said last night.

Motion to send the money was made at a regular Jaycees meeting by Howard Popkin; seconded by Robert Widmer.

Popkin was appointed second vice president by the group. He fills a vacancy created by the resignation of Howard Mills, who resigned due to press of business outside of town.

Two Chairmen Named

Stanley Grace was named chairman for the "Teen-Age Roadshow," a safety demonstration program for young people. It is held annually. Popkin was elected chairman of the "Easter Egg Hunt" to be held in this borough.

Jaycees president S. Jerome Rubin announced that "Operation Helping Hand" will be brought to a close about March 31. This was the program to aid flood victims in this area.

Money for the assistance was received from Jaycee chapters as far away as Brush, Colo., and Everett, Wash., Rubin said. When the money is all in it will be turned over to the five churches which were flooded out in the August, 1955 flood, Rubin said.

Algers University is the third ranking in the French Union, with 89 professors and 5,000 students.

Pianos Available As Replacements For Organizations

WANT A free piano?

If any school, church or community organization lost or damaged its piano during the August flood, the Pocono Jaycees may have a replacement for the instrument.

Jaycees now have three pianos in storage. More information may be secured by calling Jaycees president S. Jerome Rubin at Stroudsburg 1023-R.

Postal Service Especially Slow

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Rep. Kargen (D-Mo.) has demanded an investigation of why it takes the postal service six days to deliver a letter a distance of 20 blocks in Washington.

"The pony express used to carry mail from Missouri to California in a little under seven days," he told the House. And yet last year, he related, two of his special delivery letters took six days to reach their destinations inside Washington.

Saddler Retains Feather Crown

By Chris Edmonds
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18 (P) — Champion Sandy Saddler, opening a cut over Flash Elorde's left eye in the eighth round, successfully defended his featherweight title tonight with a technical knockout when Referee Ray Flores stopped the bout at 59 seconds of the 13th round.

Flores halted the fight twice for an examination of Elorde's eye by Dr. Robert Laddon. Both times, in the two rounds before the TKO, Laddon nodded his approval for the fight to continue.

Flores, concerned about the blood streaming down Elorde's face, kept watching the injury carefully. He finally called a third halt. Dr. Laddon confirmed the injury as enough to stop the fight completely.

Elorde kept shaking his head during Dr. Laddon's final examination, apparently protesting that he was able to continue. The blood, however, had to be wiped away with a towel before the physician could examine the cut thoroughly.

After the decision was announced, both fighters were taken to a ring-side microphone and Elorde said, "I would like to fight him again."

Saddler, his once white frunks stained pink by blood, paid tribute to the Filipino's courage, saying: "All of his punches were good. He was moving very fast. He was out to win."

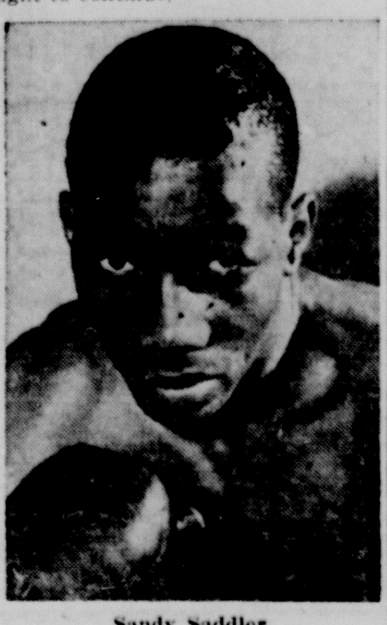

The score cards of all three ring officials showed Saddler ahead 67-65 when the bout was halted.

The Associated Press score card had the champion in front 68 to 64. The fight was scored under the 11-point round, California system.

Elorde, 125, suffered his eye injury in the eighth round, which surprisingly he won on all three official cards. Early in the round he landed hard right and left combinations to Saddler's head, knocking out the champ's mouthpiece.

Elorde, taking full advantage of Saddler's momentary confusion, forced him onto the ropes with a volley of blows to the head. Saddler, 126, fought his way out and landed a long right which apparently inflicted the cut, as Elorde's eye started bleeding slightly.

In the ninth, Elorde, who fought

Varsity 'E' Sets New Tulsa Choir Date

ANALOMINK — A revision of plans highlighted last night's meeting of the Varsity "E" Club here at Stroud Manor, at which 20 club members were in attendance.

The club has changed the date for the local appearance of the Tulsa Choir from next Wednesday to Thursday, April 12. The choir will present its concert at East Stroudsburg Junior High School. All profits from the show will go to the Varsity "E" Club. This year's original appearance of the world famous Tulsa Choir was postponed due to the change of tour dates by the organization. The switches were made necessary because of illness in the choir.

Reg Nauman, club president of the Varsity "E", first last night was named the organization's delegate to sit with the East Stroudsburg High School Athletic Association in future meetings.

Russell "Buck" LaBar, treasurer, revealed that a total of $2,063.07 still remains in the club treasury.

Several other topics of business were brought before the gathering, include means of raising money, but no official action was taken by the group.

Jack Kist, head football and baseball coach at Stroudsburg High, showed films of the East Stroudsburg-Wilson Borough football game, a Lehigh-Northampton League affair, in which the Cavaliers earned a 13-12 victory.

Joe Perfetti, club president, ruled over the meeting.

Ed Tweedie, host, served a buffet luncheon.

Pocono Lake Falls Before Rudy's Tavern

POCONO PINES—Rudy's Tavern cemented its hold on third place in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League last night with a hard fought 109-97 verdict over Pocono Lake, here on the Tobyhanna Township High School court.

The win was the third in five outings for the Tavern cagers, while Pocono Lake has now lost all four of its league contests.

Rudy's club displayed virtually all of its power in the first and final periods, while moving to victory in the highest scoring game of the present Pocono Mountains League campaign.

Scoring

The Tavern cagers led 30-21 after 10 minutes of play, but Pocono Lake fought back to hold a 28-27 edge in the second quarter. The ultimate winner was in front at halftime, 57-49.

Rudy's squad took a big step toward victory with a 24-21 advantage in the third quarter and then made certain of the decision with a 28-27 bulge in the last period scoring.

Paul Hofmann, Karl Mahle and Don Foti, with 27, 20 and 22 points respectively, topped the Tavern scoring. Broynok, Jim "Cocky" Wilson and Paul Gravel were the big guns for Pocono Lake with 22, 19 and 18 tallies respectively.

The combined total of 206 points in last night's game may have set two records.

It is almost certainly a league record and is probably a new mark for the Tobyhanna Township court.

Famed Negro Baseball Team May Be Forced To Disband

Associated Press
NOBODY CAN BLAME Tom Baird for packing in with his Kansas City Monarchs, once the standout team in Negro baseball.

Baird has been in the game more than 35 years and he says his team, once the standout of the Negro American League, is out at Kansas City, and may even disband.

Jack Robinson played shortstop for Baird in 1945 before the Brooklyn Dodger star broke into organized baseball in 1946 and batted .349 for Montreal to lead the International League in hitting.

Satchel Paige was Baird's proudest possession and often of Satch would pitch three innings on a Sunday afternoon and three innings of a night game.

Others the Kansas City baseball and bowling alley proprietor sent to the majors are Ernie Banks, Gene Baker, Hank Thompson and Willard Brown.

Banks

"I sold Banks to the Chicago Cubs for $25,000," says Baird. "I was a fool. I could have gotten twice that much, but I never thought Ernie would be such a great player."

"He's a good boy, too. He once came to me and said: 'Mr. Baird, is it all right if I get married?'"

"Baker went to the Cubs for $7,000, and he and Banks make a fine double play team."

Baird produced a sheet of expenses in connection with a game played last May, 15 at Municipal Stadium in Kansas City, now home of Arnold Johnson's Kansas City Athletics. It showed that his park expenses for the game were $1,538.69.

"There was a charge for everything except the flag pole," says Baird.

The Monarchs have played in just about every big league park in the country. In 1946 they featured Paige against Bob Feller in a Thursday night game in Yankee Stadium around World Series time. They drew so well Feller and Paige hooked up again on Sunday and without advance publicity drew another big crowd.

Star Cager Leads Squad In Prayer

By Charles Monzella
HUNTINGTON, W. Va. Jan. 18 (P) — Marshall College basketball players join in the traditional "laying on of hands." Dave Kirk leads in the Lord's Prayer. Then the team takes to the floor.

It was Kirk, a husky 195 pound 6 foot 4 sophomore, who asked Coach Jule Rivlin about beginning each game with the prayer. Every-body approved.

Kirk, a quiet-spoken 19-year-old, is a preministerial student and assistant pastor at the High-lawn Methodist Church. On occasion he preaches at one of the Sunday services. He also is youth superintendent.

If he has a sermon to prepare, he spends most of Saturday putting it into shape. This relaxes him for a Saturday night game, he says.

His basketball and religious careers began about the same time—while in the seventh grade.

First Time

"That was the first time I'd ever seen a basketball," Kirk says. "My gym teacher threatened to paddle me because I couldn't dribble and pass."

The same year he joined the church, and two years later he began to think about the ministry.

Kirk has two uncles in the ministry and an aunt working in a mission hospital, but he says his mother had the greatest influence in guiding him toward his planned life work.

His father, Harry Kirk, is a supervisor at a Huntington industrial plant.

Kirk tries to divide his spare time equally between basketball and religion. It requires 10 to 15 hours to prepare a sermon. He practices basketball about 15 hours a week.

On the floor, Kirk has full control of his temper, no matter how rough the going. Keeping one's temper, he says, is just a question of mind over matter.

Dave was captain of Marshall's freshman team last year. A B average student, he played football in his sophomore and junior years in high school until he received a knee injury. After an operation,

Penn State, Pitt, Lehigh Wrestlers High In Rating

UNIVERSITY PARK, Jan. 18—Pitt, Penn State and Lehigh are rated the Eastern wrestling teams most likely to succeed during the 1956 college campaign.

Wrestling News, in its debut as a national intercollegiate wrestling publication, names Oklahoma A & M as the prospective national champion, followed by Oklahoma, Pitt and Iowa in that order.

The News, edited and published by Jess Hoke, of Oklahoma City, contacted coaches nationally for its poll.

Fourth

Iowa nosed out Penn State for fourth place, largely because of two first place votes. Penn State polled a large number of third place votes.

Others in the first ten are Michigan, Lehigh, Iowa State Teachers, Illinois and Colorado.

The NCAA championships will be held at Stillwater, Okla., March 23-24. Oklahoma Aggies are the defending champions.

Pope Pius Lists Games

ROSETO — Pope Pius X High School will play two basketball games within four days, it was announced last night.

The Roseto cagers are scheduled to oppose another Pope Pius High squad in Pottsville tomorrow.

Junior varsity action is set for 7:15 p. m. and the varsity contest for approximately 8:30 p. m.

On Monday the Royals will entertain the Eastern Catholic High Reserves on the St. Elizabeth School court in Pen Artyl.

Monday's tussle is set for 8 p. m. Pope Pius dropped its only out-of-the current season to Lansdale Catholic, also on the St. Elizabeth court.

The Royals are in their second season of varsity basketball.

doctors ordered him to quit football.

RILEY
Sports Editor

STROUDSBURG and East Stroudsburg High Schools went down to unexpected defeats in Tuesday's basketball games and they turned the trick in opposite fashions. East Stroudsburg rallied strongly in the final period and just missed catching Hellertown as time ran out with the Cavaliers on the short end of a 69-64 count. Stroudsburg led most of the way, only to have Emmaus rally in the closing moments to gain a 67-63 verdict.

Although both local clubs were expected to win without too much strain on Tuesday, they didn't present a complete disappointment. Each had one eager who turned in a brilliant performance. Doug Shook hit the cords for 30 points, the second time the big center has turned the trick this season. He previously notched 33 tallies against Slatington. Doug, who is playing outstanding basketball in the current campaign, has now scored 117 points in five league games.

Doug has a total of 53 field goals and 11 foul shots in the Lehigh Valley League for an average of 23.4 points per game against circuit opposition. King Beers turned in his best game of his career while pacing East Stroudsburg to a strong finish against Hellertown. Beers wound up the contest with 27 points. Otherwise, it was a simple story of two disappointing defeats, setbacks that placed both local clubs squarely behind the eight ball.

Don Keat continues to run wild in the Lehigh-Northampton League, but his Bangor squad is finding victories far and few between. Keat didn't play against Hellertown last Friday because of District Band competition and dropped four points behind Nazareth's Bob Mengel in the scoring race, 129-125. Don came back on Tuesday to drop 39 points into the cords, although Bangor fell before previously winless Coplay. Keat now has registered 53 field goals and 54 foul shots for 164 points in five league games. This is an average of 32.8 tallies a game.

Coolbaugh is definitely the team to beat in the Monroe County League now, with only Pocono preventing a mild threat at the present time. Coolbaugh and Chestnut Hill each only scored 10 field goals in Tuesday's clash for the lowest number in the circuit this season. Chestnut Hill, the defending champion, missed 38 field goal attempts. Pocono broke a lengthy offensive slump in winning over Barrett, 54-48, and demonstrated improvement in the foul shooting department.

Stroudsburg lost the ball five straight times in the last quarter against Emmaus because of carelessness. This was enough to change the verdict from Stroudsburg's favor and give the victory to Emmaus. Art Smith, Polk High coach, calls Ronnie Smith, no relation, one of the best players he has ever coached. Ronnie came up with 31 points against Tobyhanna Township on Tuesday. He has been one of the top scorers in the Monroe County League in the past two years.

The crowd watching Pocono and Barrett in action at Tannersville on Tuesday was the largest gathering of fans in the Pocono High School gymnasium this season. It was also one of the noisiest. Dick DeDonna, Coolbaugh High's forward, was a candidate for the Stroudsburg High football team last autumn before his family moved to Tobyhanna. DeDonna was only recently promoted to the Coolbaugh varsity by Coach Don Wismer.

Veteran observers reveal that the Pocono-Barrett court battle was one of the best games witnessed by them in the Monroe County League this season. One technical foul was called in this contest. Only three members of the Coolbaugh club scored in the 33-27 nod over Coolbaugh. Dave Kelper finished with 16, Bob Sapp, 11, and Tom Cucherini, six points. Is it true that some of our better basketball players are very, very weak in their training habits?

Many observers believe that the outcome of the Monroe County League basketball race hinges on the next meeting of Pocono and Coolbaugh at Tannersville. Each team has won a game in two outings, but Coolbaugh faces the circuit with a record of five wins and one defeat. Pocono is second with four favorable decisions and two of the unfavorable variety. But, both Harry Werkheiser, Pocono coach, and Wismer realize that there are plenty of other truly tough contests for both clubs during the remainder of the schedule.

Colts Grab Former Nazareth Star In Pro Draft Session

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18 (P)—The National Football League today wound up its annual meeting by grinding out the final rounds of the draft of college prospects for the 1956 campaign. Commissioners Bert Bell ended the first NFL session held west of Chicago with compliments to all concerned as the 12 clubs packed their voluminous draft files. Ten rounds concluded today's meeting, which followed 17 held last night and the original and vital three rounds conducted last November in Philadelphia. All told, the league drafted 360 players, some eligible for play this year in the pro wars and some for delivery in another year.

Earlier Rounds
Already drafted in the first three rounds were such standout stars of the 1955 college season as Howard Cassady of Ohio State, by the Detroit Lions, Gary Glick of Colorado A&M, Pittsburgh's bonus choice; Earl Morrall of Michigan State by the San Francisco 49ers, Bob Pelletini of Maryland by the Philadelphia Eagles, and Preston Carpenter of Arkansas by the champion Cleveland Browns.

Today's windup produced few surprises. Cleveland drafted big Bob Davern, UCLA fullback, hoping he may change his mind about Canadian football or on Sundays in the NFL; his teammate halfback Sam Brown, and a spectacular junior college halfback, Jimmy Waddell of Compton, Calif.

Runnerup
Rumrort, Los Angeles chose Mickey Bates of Illinois and end Sam Williams of Michigan State. Washington evoked some surprise when the Redskins waited until the 20th round to draft Carl Nyström, Michigan State's outstanding guard. The Redskins also plucked Princeton's captain-halfback, Royce Flippin.

Notre Dame continued to contribute talent to the NFL. Pat Bisceglia and George Nicola, linemen, went to Washington and tackle Gene Martel to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

But as is generally the case, the pros beat the bushes for talent from the less known schools and their less publicized stars.

Collins To Begin Drills

UNION, N.J., Jan. 18 (P)—In a few weeks, amiable Joe Collins, 33, plans to take off for Florida for a pre-spring training conditioning program and his annual battle for the first base job on the New York Yankees.

Same Story
Each spring it's the same old story with the rangy player from the coal fields of Pennsylvania. The Yankees gather five or six first sackers to fight it out for the post and each fall, when the pennant race gets hottest, it's usually the clutch-hitting Collins who gets the call for the stretch games.

Former Champ Found Dead

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 18 (P)—Johnny Layton, former world champion billiards player, was found dead today at the rooming house where he lived. He was 69.

Peak
At the peak of his game, in the 1920s and 30s, Layton held both the world 3-cushion and pocket billiards championships. He never fully regained his playing form after being injured in a traffic accident at Chicago 25 years ago and had been inactive as a professional player in recent years.

Podres Joins Dodger Fold

BROOKLYN, Jan. 18 (P)—Johnny Podres, Brooklyn's World Series pitching hero who recently was reclassified 1A in the military draft, today signed his 1956 contract with the Dodgers. No salary was announced but the figure was reported close to $15,000. Podres does not know if he will be able to start the season or even report to spring training before his military call. He was released Dec. 27 and is subject to call at any time.

Russia Gains Rating As Early Favorite

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy, Jan. 18 (P)—Russia's "mystery team," ready to compete in the winter Olympic games for the first time, stood out as the early favorite today on the strength of amazing showings by a little-known ski jumper and an unheralded speed skater.

Koba Tsakadze, a Russian from the Ural Mountains, surprised the specialists of other nations with a leap of 80 meters (262 feet 5-2-8 inches) on the classic "Italia" ski slide where the jumpers are members of the Olympic Gold Medals, starting Jan. 26. Tsakadze's leap was the best of the day, six meters farther than Finland's touted Anti Hyvarinen.

Sweep
From the Swiss international speed skating races at Davos, Switzerland, came the news of a dazzling one-two-three sweep by the Russians in the 500 meter sprint that opened a four-day competition. Rafail Gratch, a slim lad with the muscular legs of a ballet dancer, won the 500-meter race in 41.1 seconds, only three-tenths of a second over the world record.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Del Lamb, coach of the American team whose best performances were a tie for 12th place by Ken Henry of Chicago, and a tie for 16th by Don McDermott of Englewood Cliffs, N.J., and John Werker, of Minneapolis. Henry's time was 43.4, McDermott and Werker 43.5.

McNeese Star Hits 500 Mark

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (P)—Bill Reigel of McNeese State of Louisiana is the first college basketball player to score 500 points this season.

Statistics
NCAA Service Bureau statistics showed today that Reigel has tallied 507 points in 16 games for a 31.7 average.

The leader on percentage in the small college scoring competition, however, is Dave Olmsted of Clarkson, N. Y., College who has racked up a 32.4 average in seven games. He has 227 points.

Washington State Inks Coach

PULLMAN, Wash., Jan. 18 (P)—Jim Sutherland, who was bounced out as an assistant football coach at Washington during a player revolt, came up on the rebound today with a head coaching job at Washington State College.

WSC tacked up the deposed backfield coach of its cross-state rival and signed him to a three-year contract at a reported salary of $12,000 a year, $500 less than the man he succeeds, Alton Kircher.

Blocking Back
Sutherland, 42, an old blocking back at the University of Southern California, went to Washington last March as an aide to Johnny Cherb and was sacked amid a player revolt in November.

Some 33 players had protested Cherb's "coaching methods." When the storm was over, Cherb was still the head coach and Sutherland was fired.

Pocono Lake Plays Host To Kresgeville Foe Today

POCONO PINES—Kresgeville and Pocono Lake, the only two teams without a victory in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League, will tangle here on the Tobyhanna Township High School court today.

The only game on today's circuit agenda is scheduled to get under way at 8 p. m.

Both Pocono Lake and Kresgeville have suffered four defeats in as many trips to the hardwood against circuit opposition. Today's clash will be the first of the season between these two foes and neither club plans any change in roster personnel.

Anne Meredith Selected For DAR Award

Anne Meredith

ANNE FRANCIS Meredith has been chosen by fellow students and a faculty committee to receive the annual DAR "Good Citizen" award at Stroudsburg High School.

The award is based on service to the school and the community. The winner is selected by a faculty group from three senior girl students whose names have been submitted by the class.

Miss Meredith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Francis Meredith, 1133 W. Main St., Stroudsburg. She is a commercial student in the high school who plans to go into a job with a private law firm as secretary following her graduation from high school.

Class Secretary

In high school she has served as secretary of both the junior and senior class. This year she has been the accompanist for the mixed and girls' chorus. She is a member of the Deemettes, a girls' vocal ensemble at the school.

Miss Meredith was co-director of this year's senior class play and was a member of the junior play cast in 1954. She is active in the Tri-Hi-Y group at the school. She is 16.

It'll Take 548 Years To Pay Off U.S. Debt At Rate Of 500 Million Dollars Annually

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—So here you sit, leading through the big book President Eisenhower put out to explain how this nation will spend its money next year.

And in it you see a little chart in which Eisenhower says the public debt at the end of this fiscal year will be about 274 billion dollars. But he hopes that we are going to take in more than we pay out and thereby reduce the debt by 500 million dollars or so by the end of next year.

How About Interest

So you get a pencil and start figuring. If we can keep right on paying off at this rate—and Democrats already have said they think Eisenhower is too optimistic—in a measly 548 years we will be completely out of the red.

Good old debt-free A.D.!

Then you turn to another page, where Eisenhower is explaining how hard it is to save money in the government.

He says 40 billions will go for defense, and another 16½ billions for "major programs which are not readily controllable."

Among these practically uncontrollable items is one for seven billions for interest on the national debt. Seven billions, just for interest.

That's about 18 times as much as it cost to run the whole federal government back in 1890. Except for the war years, the federal government didn't get around to spending seven billions a year until 1934.

Better Use Elsewhere

You fail to think, what if the debt were paid off and we had all this interest money to play around with? Obviously many of the things now troubling Congress—such as aid to schools and to highways—could be paid for in a breeze.

So you call up a fellow who hangs around the Treasury and ask him about the debt, and he begins to talk soberly about how the economy is geared to it.

"Do you know," he asks, "how many old ladies depend on the debt?"

"No," you say.

"I don't either," he says, "but it must be plenty, for 40 billions of that debt is in savings. Where would they put their money?"

Without waiting for an answer, he goes on to say that businesses, trusts, pension funds, foreign countries even, put their money in government bonds. And how special issues are used for social security surpluses. And how valuable a short term bill is for a business man.

Crisis Not Inminent

"Suppose," he says, "that your tax bill comes to $200,000. You have the money but the tax isn't due for several months. Well, you can put your money here, and pick up a few pennies. Where else can you do that?"

Fearful that the phone might be tapped, and that you could be accused of trying to jimmy the nation's fiscal machinery, you hastily point out that there's no cause for alarm, that at the present proposed pace the debt free crisis won't come for 548 years.

You and Ben

You may not be able to discover a new source of power, or invent a new machine—but there's one way you can be like Benjamin Franklin. Be THRIFTY! He proved that it pays. You can, too, with regular deposits in your bank account here. It's wise to be thrifty!
